III. About PrePodiatryLife

Join our team and help create a new world of podiatry that allows our leaders to reach their full potential.

About Me

Hello this is Roberto De Los Santos DPM,

First year resident in Kingwood, Texas. I have created the following websites and I seek chief editors, editors, or contributors for each. These websites are meant to help the student community of podiatry and provide a template for future possible high school, undergrad, or "prepodiatry" students to look at while deciding to pursue a professional school. This is meant to provide leadership experience while contributing a fun and educational environment for all to read. I am reaching out to all the 9 podiatry schools, there are plenty of leadership positions available. These are all helpful tools and websites that I wish I had while in school! I am excited about my work but will need help since I am in residency. Hope to hear back from you guys!
